Foreword

As we reflect on the first half of 2026, I am pleased to present this edition of Insurance Today, a testament to the resilience, innovation, and growing relevance of Uganda's insurance industry.

The numbers tell a compelling story: Gross Written Premiums growing by over 12%, extending protection to 1.86 million lives, and Micro Insurance's impressive 226% surge. These achievements reflect not only stronger performance but also increasing public trust and appreciation of insurance as a vital tool for security and prosperity.

From the successful multi-city Annual Insurance Week and the launch of the Risk Assessment Project, to the vibrant Insurance Industry Sports Gala and the recognition of outstanding agents, this period has been marked by purposeful engagement and collaboration. Our members have remained active in communities, supporting education, health, and economic empowerment.

Looking ahead, we remain committed to deepening insurance penetration, advancing digital solutions, strengthening regulatory partnerships, and ensuring that every Ugandan can confidently say:

“Future Eri Ku Sure Ne Insure.”

Thank you for your continued support and partnership.

Jonan Kisakye
Chief Executive Officer
Uganda Insurers Association

Insurance Today in Numbers

Basing on unaudited figures from the Uganda Insurers Association, Uganda's insurance sector is showing clear signs of growth and resilience. In the first quarter of 2026, the industry extended protection to 1.86 million lives: 48% female and 52% male. Premium retention also edged higher, improving from 64.6% in Q1 2025 to 65.3% in Q1 2026.

Strong Premium Growth

Gross Written Premiums jumped over 12% to UGX 596 billion in Q1 2026, compared to UGX 529 billion the previous year.

This uptick is a promising signal that more Ugandans are recognizing the value of insurance.

Claims Payouts on the Rise

Insurers honored claims worth UGX 150.4 billion in the first quarter, up from UGX 127.9 billion in Q1 2025. Most payouts went to Medical, Motor Comprehensive, and Personal Accident policies.

Higher and faster claims settlement is exactly what the public wants to see, a development that should help strengthen trust in the industry and drive further uptake.

Life Insurance Gaining Ground

More families are choosing to secure their future. Life Insurance premiums grew by 12%, rising from UGX 243.6 billion to UGX 273.4 billion.

Individual Life, Medical, and Deposit Administration products led the charge.

Non-Life Segment Remains Robust

Non-life insurance recorded solid growth, with premiums increasing from UGX 284.89 billion to UGX 320.52 billion.

Fire, Motor Comprehensive, Medical, and Personal Accident covers were the top performers.

Medical Insurance Becoming More Common-place

Ugandans are increasingly embracing Medical Insurance. The segment generated UGX 144 billion in Gross Written Premiums in Q1 2026.

Although it contributed the largest share of insurance revenue (UGX 105.9 billion), the service margin remained thin at 0.6% (UGX 621 million).

Micro Insurance Booming

The biggest success story this quarter is Micro Insurance. Premiums exploded by an impressive 226%, climbing from UGX 0.76 billion to UGX 2.46 billion.

This surge shows that well-designed, affordable products are finally reaching households that need them most.

Looking Ahead

While the overall picture is encouraging, total insurance revenue dipped slightly by 1.9% and service expenses increased by 14.6%. The industry must now focus on improving efficiency and delivering greater value to policyholders to translate this growth into sustainable profitability.

Insurance Regulatory Authority launches 2026 Annual Insurance Week

The Insurance Regulatory Authority officially launched the Annual Insurance Week 2026 on 24th February, 2026 at Insurance Towers. The Insurance Week took place from 19th to 26th March 2026 at Lower Constitution Square (City Square) under the theme “Future Eri Ku Sure Ne Insure.”

Speaking at the launch, the Insurance Regulatory Authority’s Chief Executive Officer, Alhaj Dr. Kaddunabbi Ibrahim Lubega, described the Insurance Week as a vital platform for bridging the gap between the industry and the public. “Insurance Week is a strategic platform designed to increase public appreciation and uptake of insurance by bringing industry players closer to the communities they serve through direct engagement, education and awareness initiatives,” he said.

UIA Chief Executive Officer, Mr. Jonan Kisakye, emphasized the broader vision behind this year’s theme. “Future Eri Ku Sure Ne Insure points to the growing importance of building a more inclusive, innovative and trusted insurance sector for all.”

He also noted that the theme aligns with UIA’s ongoing Motor Third Party Digital Stickers campaign, which seeks to enhance transparency and increase Motor Third Party Insurance uptake. He further highlighted the importance of the Insurance Innovation Awards, which recognize technologies and products that meaningfully advance innovation within the industry.

- The collaboration between industry stakeholders during Insurance Week provides a strategic platform to strengthen public confidence, showcase innovation, and promote a more responsive and inclusive insurance sector in Uganda.

Workshop on Review of School Fire Insurance Proposal

The Uganda Insurers Association (UIA), in collaboration with the Ministry of Education and Sports Uganda (MoES) Education Policy and Research Unit (EPAR), held a one-day workshop to advance discussions on the proposed School Fire Insurance Proposal on 26th February 2026 at Fairway Hotel Kampala. This was based on the findings from a survey undertaken by UIA & MoES in 2024/25 on the impact of fire outbreaks on educational institutions in Uganda between 2018 and 2024, that informed the draft policy brief.

The Ministry was represented by Mr. Anthony Rwebanda, the Assistant Commissioner for Research and Innovation under the Education Policy and Research Department, while the UIA team was led by Chief Executive Officer - Mr. Jonan Kisakye.

Key To Note

- The research revealed significant gaps in financial preparedness following fire incidents.
- According to the findings, insurance uptake in schools remains very low, with only 13% coverage and just 17 of 89 affected institutions insured, exposing major financial vulnerability after fire outbreaks.
- The engagement marked a shift from research to policy development, with plans to finalize and validate a policy brief for implementation.

Motor Third Party Insurance Awareness in Western Uganda

The Uganda Insurers Association (UIA), in partnership with the Insurance Regulatory Authority (IRA) successfully conducted a Motor Third Party Insurance sensitization engagement across Western Uganda, involving Traffic Police representatives and members of the public in Mbarara and Kabale. They were aimed at strengthening awareness, compliance and adoption of Motor Third Party digital stickers.

The UIA delegation was led by the Senior Technical Officer (Non-Life), Mr. Martin Okwaja, alongside the Technical Assistant (Non-Life), Mr. Gilbert Emojong.

Mr. Saul Sseremba, Principal and CEO of the Insurance Training College, noted that the forum was established to provide stakeholders with an opportunity to critically analyze the national budget, identify emerging opportunities and assess areas where the sector can strengthen its contribution to national development.

Mr. Jonan Kisakye, CEO of the Uganda Insurers Association, highlighted the insurance sector's growing contribution to Uganda's economy and the opportunities presented by the FY 2026/27 National Budget.
